

Classic Approach to Validation

One approach [2] for taking into account the uncertainties on the predictions relies on “appending” a statistical model directly to the observable quantities:

Classic Approach to Validation

One approach [2] for taking into account the uncertainties on the predictions relies on “appending” a statistical model directly to the observable quantities:

